It's finally happened - Car crashes into suburban fence

Despite years of warning and pleading with local drivers not to speed in our streets, recently an out of control vehicle mounted the curb and crashed through a fence on Saturn Crescent narrowly missing the house. Fortunately the resident of the house wasn't home when the accident happened. "It's fortunate no pedestrians were killed. Many people use that footpath to access bus stops on Beckett Road", said a concerned local resident.

Wine Appreciation

After the next Neighbourhood watch meeting (on the 16th October), limited quantities of wine will be available for tasting. A great opportunity to have a glass or two of wine, catch up on the local news, use the police breath analyser in a controlled environment, and get to meet other residents from our area.

Police Museum and Information Sessions

The Police Museum opens its doors to the public on the last Sunday of each month (January to November) from 10am to 3pm in addition to the standard Monday to Friday 9am to 4pm opening hours.

Monthly Sunday openings will often feature guest speakers from across the crime-solving spectrum. These talks start at 11am. The last openings for this year are scheduled for the following dates and the topics have been confirmed as:

October 29 - Identity Theft: it could happen to you (Fraud Squad) – 11am

November 26 – The Science of Fingerprints: an overview (Fingerprint Bureau) – 11am

Everyone is welcome to attend these talks.

Youths in Park

A number of unruly youths has repeatedly been spotted in the park adjacent to Cabbage Tree Creek (near Spielberg street). Their antisocial and nefarious behaviour has been reported to Police, whom would give this issue the attention it deserved. If you see something you consider unusual, please tell the Police : 33 64 64 64

Name the Parks

Both Parks in our area need to be named! Despite this area developed many years ago, neither park has a proper name. Lodge your suggestion with your block co-ordinator, or better still bring it to the next meeting.
